To fittingly welcome their comrades, the men of Lieutenant Ezra S. Griffin Post have asked the citizens of Scranton to aid them in raising a fund of $2,500 to provide for the reception of the visiting veterans. They point out that this is the first time in a century that the state encampment is to be held there, and that in every likelihood it will be the last time the veterans of the state will pitch their tents here, since death is gradually working havoc in those already sadly thinned ranks that bore the shock and brunt of many a hard fought battle.

The Ninth Cavalry, the negro regiment, the presence of which in San Antonio caused a protest to be made to President Taft by Congressman Garner of the Brownsville district and others, is in accordance with dispositions already reported from Washington to leave San Antonio. The regiment is going to do patrol duty on the border, and there is reason to believe that at least two troops will go to Brownsville, the town at the mouth of the Rio Grande, which was the scene of the trouble that caused a battalion of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, another negro regiment, to be dismissed from the service of the United States by President Roosevelt.

The negro troopers, instead of appearing downcast at being ordered to the desolate stations along the border, apparently welcome the change. They had feared that they were to be sent back to Wyoming instead of upon this comparatively active service. Col. John R. Marshall, the negro commanding officer of the Eighth Infantry, Illinois National Guard, who came in last night, to-day reported to the commanding officer of the Eighteenth United States Infantry, the regiment to which he has been assigned for the next two weeks. In that regiment 50 per cent. of the officers are Southerners, while the other Militia Colonel assigned to the Eighteenth is Col. Gardner of North Carolina. The colored officer has his meals sent to his tent, while the North Carolina Colonel and the other white officers assigned to the regiment mess with the regular officers. The negro keeps to himself most of the time.

—The lawmakers who have been trying to get together on a date for the primary elections appear to have at last arrived at a decision that is satisfactory to a majority of the members of the legislature, and unless something unexpected occurs before the bill is placed in the hands of the governor, the primaries this year will be held on the last day in September. Senator Tustin, who last week introduced a bill fixing as the primary date the first Saturday in October, offered an amendment Monday night when the bill was taken up on third reading changing the date to the last Saturday in September of odd numbered years, leaving unchanged the provision for the April primary in even numbered years. This arrangement was agreed upon at a conference of Senator Penrose with Philadelphia organization leaders and it is therefore pretty certain to pass both senate and house and meet with the approval of Governor Tener. To conform to the new date, Tustin introduced a bill fixing the registration days on Thursday, August 31; Tuesday, September 5, and Saturday, September 16. The uncertainty of the date for the primaries has caused no little trouble to candidates for office. Many have already had announcement cards on which the June date appears, printed and circulated, while others have been postponing from time to time the beginning of an active campaign until it was determined when the primaries would be held. With the date six months in the future there is likely to be a considerable increase in the already large number of candidates for county offices in Wayne county. The short time intervening between the primaries and the general election means that there will be a whirlwind campaign conducted by the nominees of the several parties.

coast, from Jacksonville to Key West. You meet them everywhere. They try to sell you, but they don't go far with me.

"Much of the land is covered with 'scrub palmetto' which costs $50 an acre to remove. There is very little timber. About all there is, is pitch pine. All the big cypress swamps are owned by large millionaires."

"Indeed they are just about grafters. Thousands of poor dupes get down there and drop their money there."

"Not one million but fifty and a hundred millions have been sunk in abandoned homes, orange groves and pineapple fields."

"But the 'boomers' would give me half Columbia if I said that. They'd say I was a knocker, but those are facts that I've given you."

"Mr. Bortree, from the southern part of the county, Sterling, went to Orlando, and builds houses, and does well, I understand."

"I look on Florida in this way: It's a nice country for a man to go to spend his winters. It's such a delightful climate."

"You can't buy fruit cheaper there than you can get it here, and you have to pay the express, $2 or $3 a box to ship it North."

"Florida has its disadvantages too. The great cry is, 'If it would only rain.' I saw a man who had corn in his garden in January that was four feet high, but it was all eaten by a green worm. Every day he had to go out and water his tomatoes and potatoes."

"Much of the land is all grown up with scrub palmetto and it costs $50 an acre to clear it out."

HONESDALE'S SHERRY LOOKS GOOD TO McALEER.
Manager Jordan, of Atlanta, Made a Bid For Honesdale Boy, But Was Turned Down.

Fred Schuerholz, the Honesdale boy with the Washington American league team at Atlanta, has made a good impression on Manager Jordan, of Atlanta, according to the Scranton Times, and Manager McAleer, of the Senators, which is evidenced by the refusal of the latter to sell "Sherry" to the former when he tried to put through a deal for him Monday.

Manager Jordan has been a steady attendant at the Washington practices as he expects to get a few of the players whom Washington will not use and any youngster that has been showing form has been sought by Otto. On Monday he approached Mac and asked for a price on Sherry, but he was told that above all he could not have Sherry.

Mac in talking to the reporters about the deal said that the Honesdale boy is showing too much form to be let out just yet. Fred has been in several games and his only fault is a lack of control. When he gets them over the plate the Regulars have a hard time to hit his curves, but he put himself in bad by his wildness several times. Mac says that this will wear off as it probably will for Sherry always had good control in this section, also in the O. & P. league last season. He only issued fifty passes in 1910 in the thirty-one games he pitched.
